

Telelingua Project Solutions

CENTRALIS Centralized Solution

Telelingua Project Solutions offers a coordination and consulting center for all linguistic needs - through clearly defined processes, uniform documentation, and a team of specialists available worldwide. TPS ensures an all-around service tailored to your needs. The gains from synergy effects as well as the central coordination of all complex project-related processes results in time, cost, and production benefits for our clients.

Universal language management center for the coordination of language services - fast and cost-efficient

As the central coordination hub for all translation needs, Telelingua Project Solutions, in the form of a Language Management Center, takes over all the steps required for a unified, multilingual market presence. The reduction of the overall costs for your translations is achieved through centrally managed translation memories as well as through centralized vendor management and order coordination by TPS.

The integrated central coordination of all your language assignments leads to further savings in costs associated with using Language Service Providers, optimized translation memories, automation, and improvement of translation processes, and time savings for your employees. By constantly optimizing all resources and processes, TPS achieves the fastest possible turnaround times, cost reduction, and best quality within the framework of your requirements and specifications.

The Language Management Center enables savings in staff and translation costs, higher translation productivity, full scalability to absorb workload and staff fluctuations, as well as higher translation quality. On the one hand, it is the ideal solution for centralizing decentralized, fragmented order coordination, and on the other hand, it provides additional support for optimizing internal company language departments.
